Changing Australia, Changing Times, Emerging Trends

Australia is changing more rapidly than anytime in modern history. From technological trends to demographic shifts, from social change to generational transitions, the times are changing. These changes will impact how organisations hire talent, manage leadership succession and deliver programs. In this session Mark McCrindle will give an analysis of our fast-moving times and a snapshot of the key trends redefining our society. He will deliver an overview of the changes and insights to help organisations not just respond to the trends but to shape them.

The Australian Community Trends Report Findings

For the last three years McCrindle has run this national study looking at donor behaviours, and Australians perceptions of not-for-profits. In this session McCrindle's Team Leader of Research Sophie Renton will deliver a snapshot of the 2018 findings and insights into the changes from previous years.

How digital will drive fundraising into the future

Our research shows one of the biggest demands of donors is tech-enabled giving. In this session, Founder of Net Strategies and Clarety, Jeremy Horn, will share his experience on how to implement effective technology across an organisation. He will give examples from his clients which are some of the largest charities and community-based organisations, and he will deliver a snapshot of the emerging technologies that will transform donor engagement in the decade ahead.
